The message of the day

Either say something that is better than silence, or be silent.

Euripides