The acts of the enemy (Saint Nicholas Velimirovich)

ες / Ρήματα ζωής

The struggle is relentless and continuous, external and internal.

Sometimes, the enemy acts visibly, through people and things, and at others he attacks people invisibly, through their thoughts.

On occasion, he'll appear openly, with a violent and merciless attack, like an enemy, but at others he'll be disguised as a friend, who flatters and leads you astray with his cunning.
