

25 Ιουνίου 2016

The body (Saint Gregory the Theologian)

Ξένες γλώσσες / In English

My body is a well-disposed enemy and a threatening friend. What a strange combination of closeness and alienation! What I fear, I honor and what I take care of, I fear. Before warring against it, I'm reconciled to it; and before making peace, I oppose it' (On Love of Poverty, VII)