Simply listen (Metropolitan Athanasios of Lemessos)

Ξένες γλώσσες / In English

In the end, it's a whole art to learn to listen to other people. You might say that communication is seventy per cent listening, rather than talking, because talking isn't always what the other person wants from you. Often enough, you don't need to say anything, just listen, and the other person will be happy that you're doing so.
