

We inevitably fall (Saint Basil the Great)

Ξένες γλώσσες / In English

If we're possessed of a vainglorious, contemptuous attitude and have been blinded by pride, then, inevitably, we fall into the same sin as the devil.