

Magnificent and unknown providence (Saint Porphyrios of Kavsoakalyvia)

Ξένες γλώσσες / In English

We live as though we don't feel the magnificence of divine providence.

God's very adroit. We can't understand His actions.

Don't think that God's done something wrong and then corrected it: God doesn't make mistakes. He doesn't correct anything.

But Who God is in His profundity, in His essence, we don't know. We can't probe the counsels of God.