7 Μαΐου 2010

The church of Saint Demetrianos, Dali, Cyprus

/ Επιστήμες, Τέχνες & Πολιτισμός

The church of Saint Demetrianos is a single aisle type with a single dome. From the outside it gives the impression that it has the shape of the cross, and somehow it is regarded as a collapsed version of the cross aisle domed basilica. These types of churches are much smaller than the official type of the cross aisle domed basilica.

This collapsed version has been widely constructed in the 12th century and one may find it all over Cyprus. (περισσότερα...)