The holy commissioners of the Great and Holy Monastery of Vatopedi, at the Holy Mountain

After offering my brotherly salute in Christ, I take the courage to appeal to your brotherly affection to support my book, whose contents are included herewith. The entire contents of the book are cited in detail, and manifest its great importance and the significant benefit which will be derived from its publication.

I hope that your Holy monastery, as having the means by the grace of God, and as always being willing to support the printing and publication of similar worthy works, will positively agree to my petition and support the publication of such a significant and beneficial book.
