27 Οκτωβρίου 2010

World Cup soccer’s psychic octopus dies

Ξένες γλώσσες / In English

Paul, the oracle octopus who shot to fame in the World Cup this summer for his uncanny ability to predict the results of Germany’s soccer matches, has died at his home in Oberhausen at the age of two.

English-born Paul made headlines across the globe after he correctly forecast how Germany would fare in seven matches, before his psychic powers were tested again for the final.

Read more…

(περισσότερα…)