The Beginning of the School Year: Some Questions for Parents to Think About

Ξένες γλώσσες / In English

Summer is over, family vacations taken, new clothes and school supplies purchased, children ready to go back to school; and parents are ready for them to go! These are August traditions and part of our getting back into routine.

Accompanying our children's education, there are some other areas with which parents need to concern themselves in relation to students' spiritual and moral lives. Below are a few questions for personal reflection. Since we are approaching the Church New Year, perhaps some of these can be "resolutions" for our families.
